

SAVED BY MY SISTER!

John is sitting in his room, reading a maths book and looking quite upset.

Danna comes in to check on John and asks him what's wrong - John tells her that his final maths exam is coming up but he doesn't understand anything.

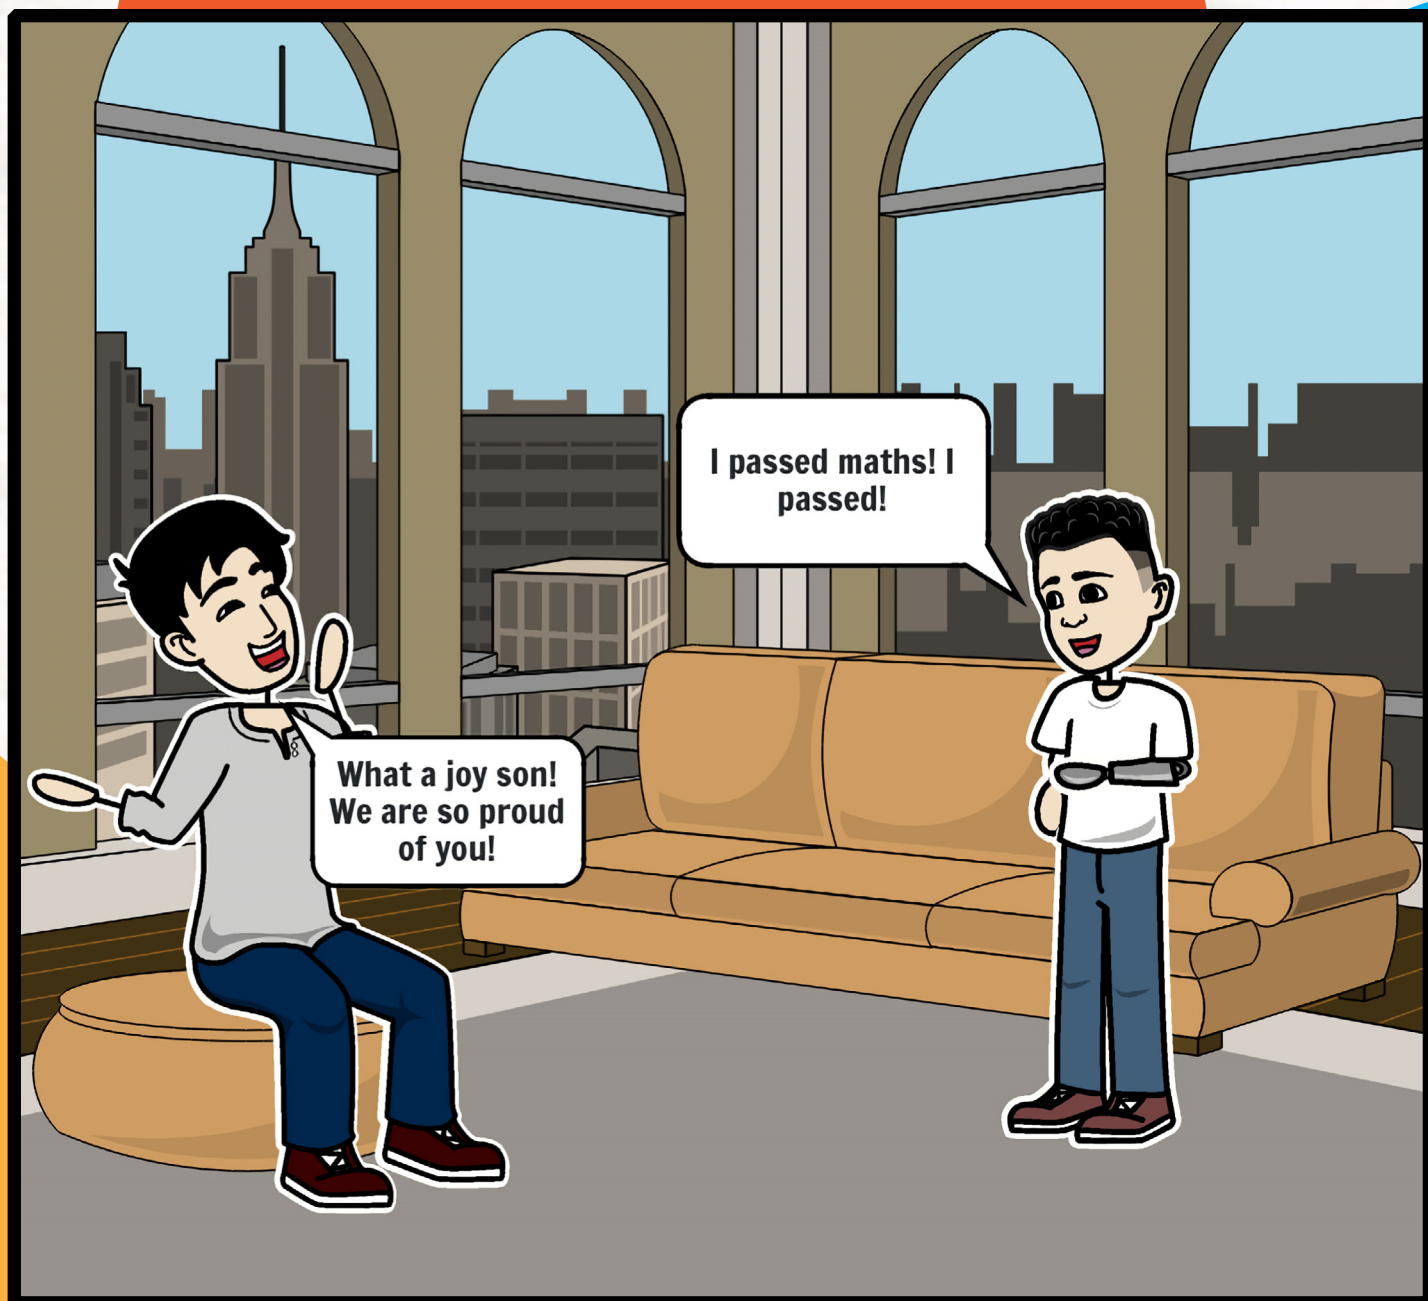

Danna tells John that she loves maths, and that she can help him study so that he passes his exam!

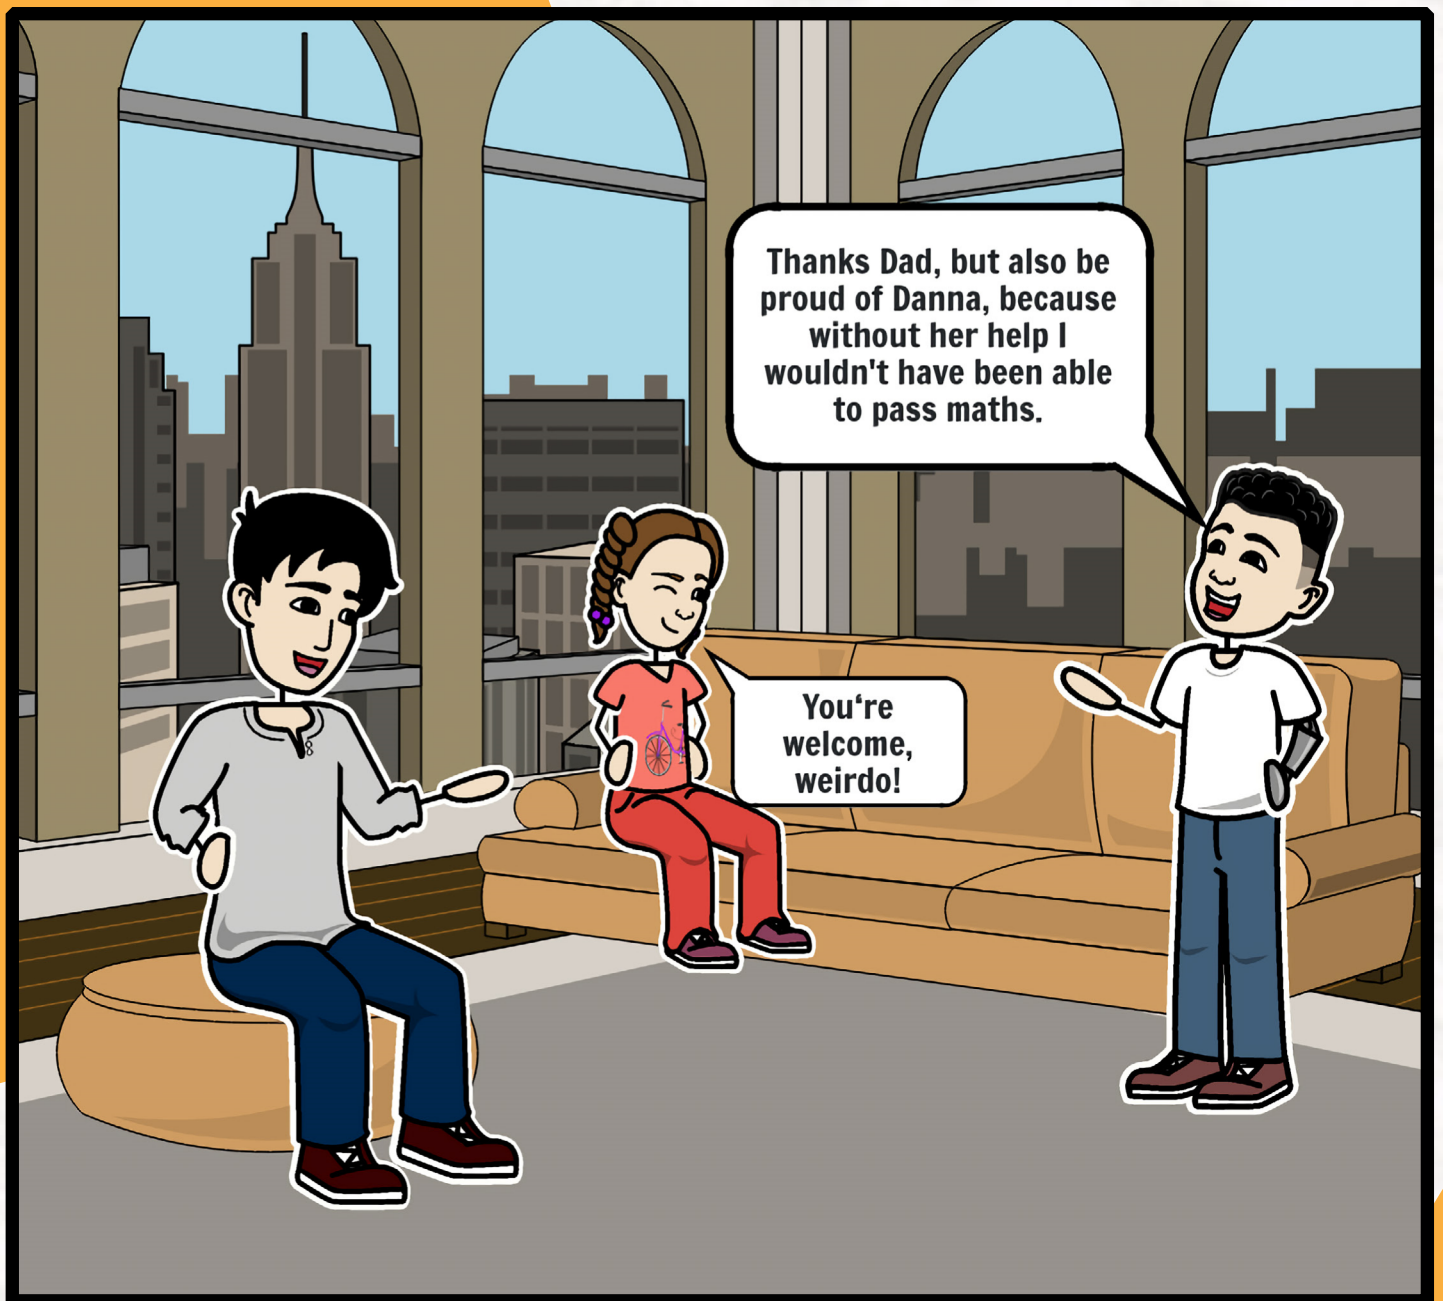

John jokes with Danna, saying that she is a weirdo for liking maths - but Danna tells him that it's because she likes maths that she is able to help him for his exam!

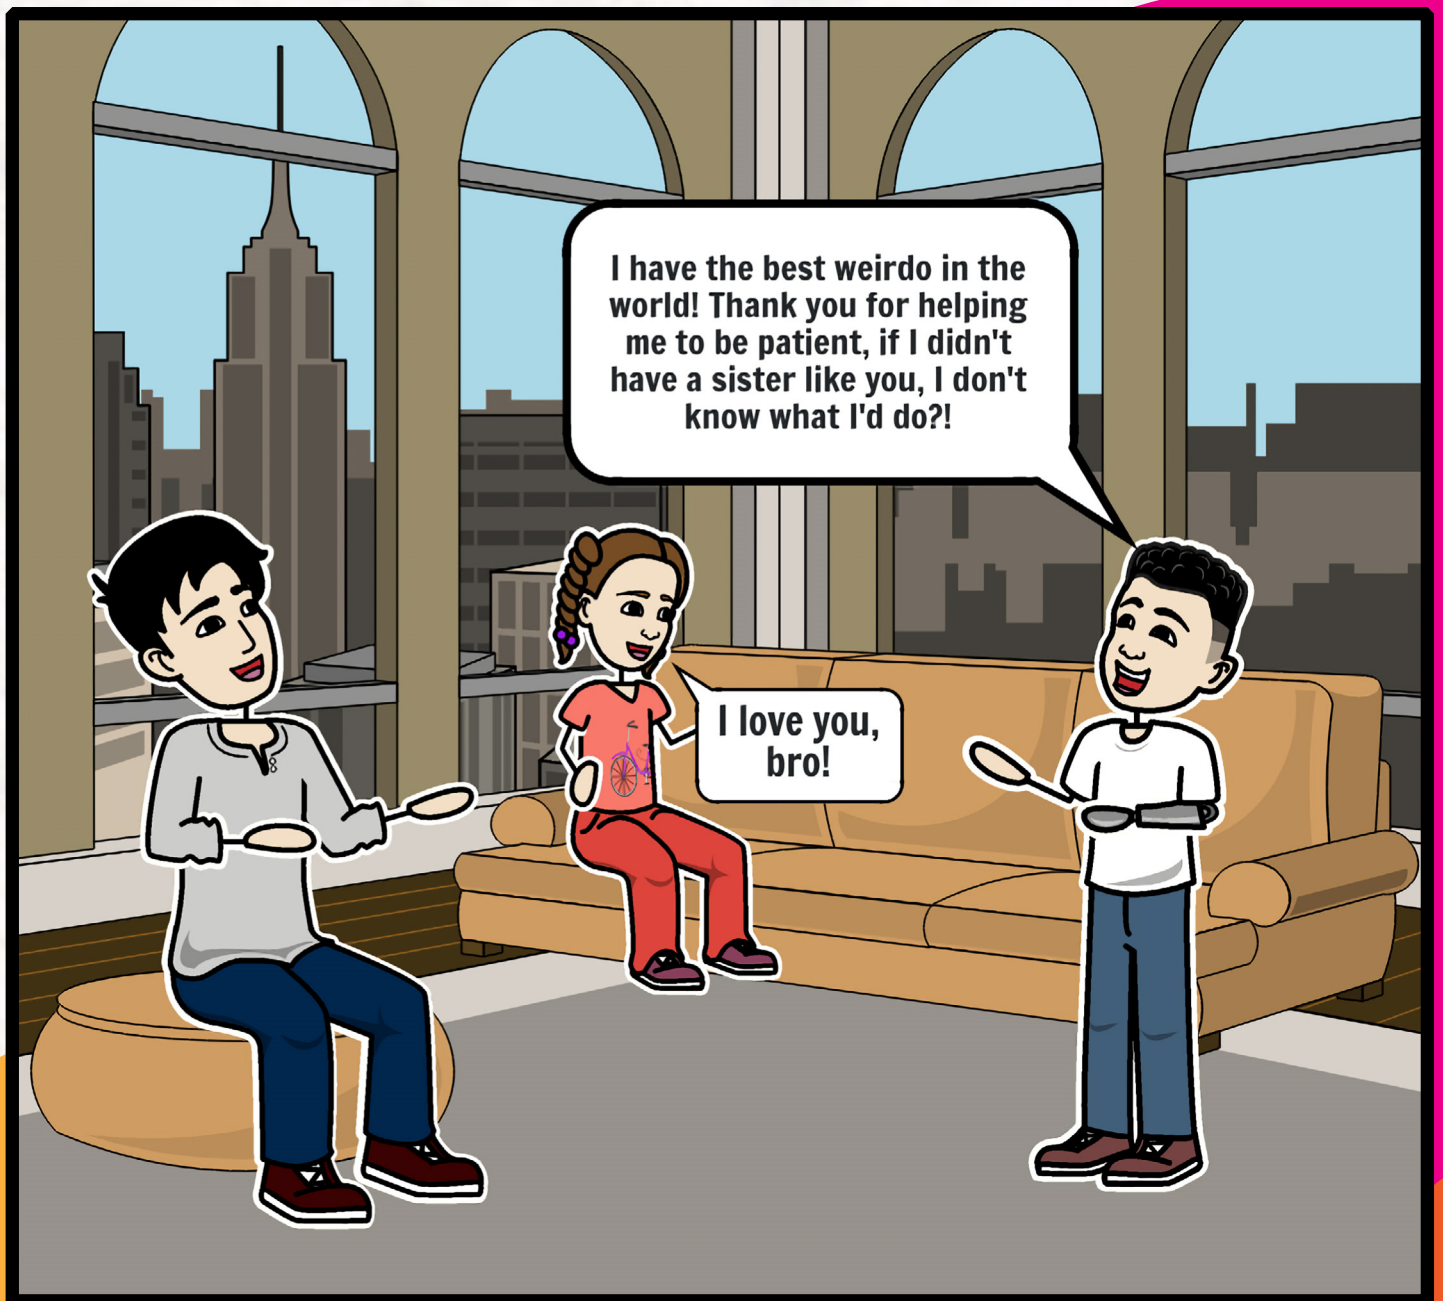

John and Danna sit down together and begin studying maths. John begins to understand the maths, thanks to Danna, and he looks much happier than earlier.

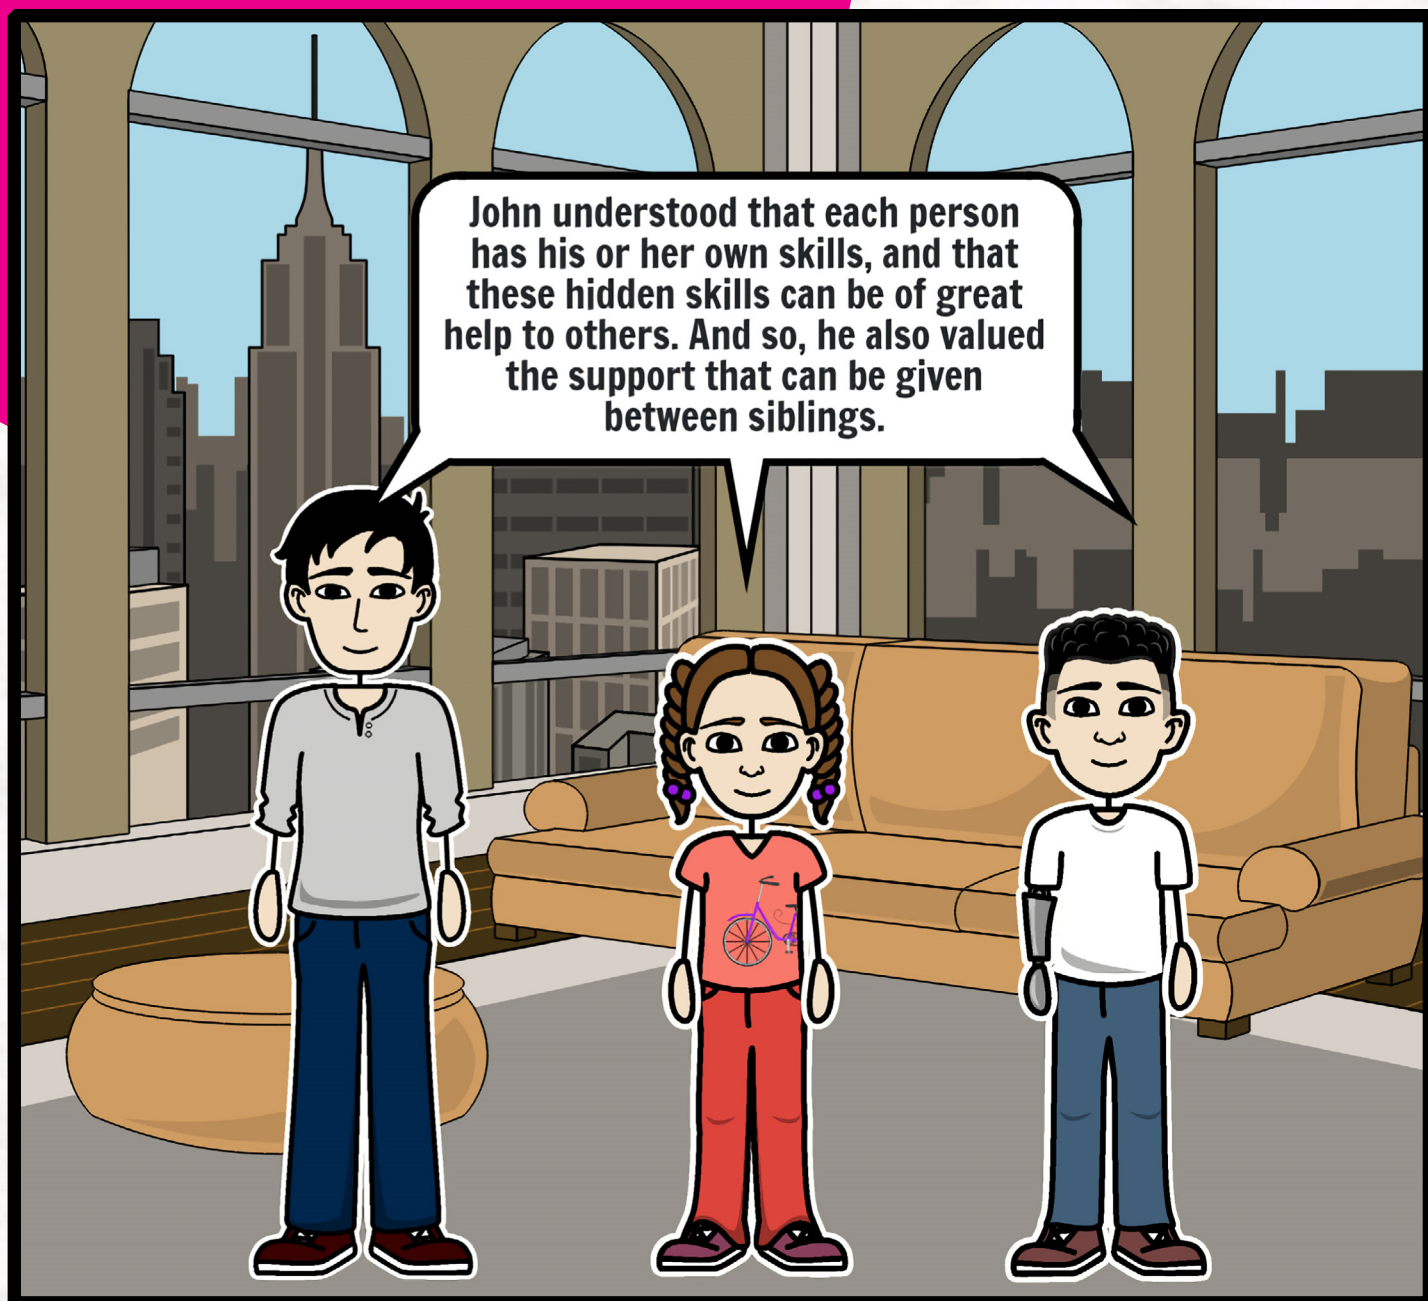

John passed his final maths exam!
Daddy tells John how proud everyone is!

Danna comes in, and John tells Daddy that he wouldn't have been able to pass the exam without Danna's help.

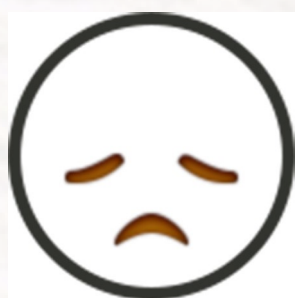

John thanks Danna for helping him pass the exam, and lets her know that he is lucky to have her as a sister.

John learned to be thankful for his sister's help, and also learned that every person has skills that may be helpful to others!
